where every small business owner can achieve big business success

June 11, 2016

Why quit when you can learn from failing?

It's amazing in small business to witness the amount of new projects, new ideas, new concepts that get started with a level of HIGH mood, HIGH energy and HIGH expectations.

This is all great until the MOOD leaves us!

The question at this point is 'should I quit or should I continue the investment on my learnings for the future'? See by QUITTING because the next best idea has just come across your table or maybe in your sleep, you're not allowing the 'once' great idea become a profitable result as it deemed to have promised at one stage.

Allow yourself to see a plan out. Allow yourself to learn on the road to true entrepreneurial mastery. How many unfinished projects do you have your drawer right now?

M500 Wednesday 22 June - Stamina - the secret ingredient of success

This month's theme is all about stamina. Our keynote speaker Samantha Gash had a desire to challenge herself and to make a difference in the world. She is most certainly a business woman who did not quit!

A World Vision Ambassador, Samantha is currently preparing for a near 4000kms run across India. The first female and youngest person to complete Racing the Planet's Four Deserts Grand Slam in one calendar year Samantha has the unique ability to move an audience with the sharing of her extraordinary journey.

If you have not booked your seat I urge you to do so now.

Samantha Gash is authentic, personable and empowering and we can't wait to share her journey with our M500 community.

Power to you!
